Thought for Today

How do you pour from an empty cup? Conventional wisdom would have it that you can't. And yet in today's gospel reading we see Jesus and his disciples doing just that. They have just completed a fast-paced and demanding period of ministry, so full-on that they barely had time to eat. Seeing his disciples' exhaustion, Jesus encourages them to come away to a quiet place and get some rest. But it was not to be... It doesn't take long before word gets around and they are once more surrounded by crowds of people, all wanting something from them. Miraculously, they find they are able to keep going. The empty cup keeps pouring, the empty hands keep giving, and many lives are transformed. As we face the demands of this week - whether expected or unexpected - perhaps we can be encouraged by this story to respond with compassion and generosity to those in need, trusting that as we give whatever we can, God will do more than we can imagine.

July's Book Club Choice- The Tenant of Wildfell Hall by Anne Bronte

The Tenant of Wildfell Hall is the second and final novel by the English author Anne Brontë. It was first published in 1848 under the pseudonym Acton Bell. Probably the most shocking of the Brontës' novels, it had an instant and phenomenal success, but after Anne's death, her sister Charlotte prevented its re-publication. The novel is framed as a series of letters from Gilbert Markham to his friend and brother-in-law about the events leading to his meeting his wife.

This novel of marital betrayal is set within a moral framework tempered by Anne's optimistic belief in universal salvation. The Tenant of Wildfell Hall is mainly considered to be one of the first sustained feminist novels. May Sinclair, in 1913, said that the slamming of Helen's bedroom door against her husband reverberated throughout Victorian England. In escaping her husband, Helen violates not only social conventions, but also English law.

All welcome to come and discuss this classic novel at Cafe Nero on Gosforth High Street on Thursday 25th July at 4pm.
